A Level – AQA

Course Leader: Miss Tabellion

What's it all about?

A level modern languages are highly valued qualifications in today's world. The A level course in French gives you the opportunity to study French society and culture at first hand, including working with native French speakers. We also look at life in other French speaking countries around the world.

Increasingly, more and more students go on to use languages in their career – you don't just have to become a language teacher or a translator! Universities offer a great variety of courses, and languages are often combined with other subjects such as law or business studies. In addition, having a language at A Level will make your university application more attractive in today's highly competitive market, even if you choose not to continue with languages at degree level.

What are the entry requirements?

9-6 in GCSE French on higher paper.

Anyone with a love for languages! If you want to develop your language skills beyond just 'phrase book' French, as well as your knowledge of France and French culture, then this is the course for you. You will be encouraged to pursue topics of personal interest and to use French independently to express your own ideas and opinions. An interest in current affairs would also be beneficial.

What will I learn on this course?

Now that A Level French is linear, the range of topics is not divided for AS and A2. However, they will include:

Theme 1: Aspects of French-speaking countries: current trends

- Changes in families
- Cyber society
- The role of volunteering work

Theme 2: Artistic culture in the French-speaking world

- French heritage and culture
- Francophone music
- Cinematographic culture

Theme 3: Aspects of French-speaking society: current issues

- Positive aspects of a multicultural society
- Social issues and discrimination
- Crime and punishments

Theme 4: Aspects of political life in the French-speaking world

- Young people and their political involvement
- Protests and strikes
- Politics and immigration.

Literature and Film:

- Bonjour Tristesse (Françoise Sagan)
- La Haine (Mathieu Kassovitz)

There is also a research project on a topic of students' choice.

How will I be assessed?

In common with all other new A-Level specifications, the new French A-Level will be linear with all exams taken at the end of the course.

Standalone AS: AS is a standalone qualification at the same standard as the previous AS. Students who sit the AS cannot count this assessment towards their A-Level result.

The final examinations are as follows:

Paper	Skills	Time	Weighting
1	Listening, Reading and Writing	2 hours 30	50%
2	Writing (essays on prescribed works)	2 hours	20%
3	Speaking	21-23 minutes	30%

What do your current students say?

Quotes from current AS students:

- “I think they are different to any other subject, you can express your feelings and opinions”.
- “You can go further in life”.
- “Because I think it will help me in life. I find it very interesting”.

Is there anything else I need to know?

- There are opportunities for work experience in France (or another French speaking country) during the course. This is ideal preparation for the A-Level speaking examination.
- Weekly sessions with a native French speaker to develop your speaking and listening skills.
- 5 hours a week of French lessons.
- Possibility to work with younger years to support and further experience and knowledge
